12th Annual International Conference Programme

Trauma, Cohesion and Security: Ongoing and Emerging Themes on Political Violence

6th & 7th September 2018

School of Law
Liverpool John Moores University

Dear Delegate,

On behalf of the School of Law at Liverpool John Moores University I am delighted to welcome you to this year's conference in Liverpool. We are thrilled to be the academic hosts for the Society for Terrorism Research's 12th Annual International Conference. Personal thanks go to our Director of School Dave Selfe, and Dean of Faculty, Professor Joe Yates for their encouragement and support in hosting this year's conference.

The aim of this conference as with all previous conferences is to encourage discussion and debate on the many contentious and contemporary issues currently facing the academic community and practitioners within the study of terrorism and security. We hope the conference will serve as a forum for highlighting ongoing and emerging academic research in terrorism and counter-terrorism, increasing networking opportunities for academics and practitioners to share experiences and promote collaboration in terrorism and counter terrorism research.

We are particularly excited to welcome our two esteemed keynote speakers. Professor Neil Ferguson from Liverpool Hope University an internationally renowned expert in the field of Political Psychology and Terrorism Studies, and Jo Dover, who has over 20 years' experience working with and supporting those affected by the trauma of terrorism and is currently providing consultancy services to the United Nations Victims of Terrorism Support Portal. We are also excited to welcome Dr Jane Reeves from The University of Kent, who will be demonstrating a new online tool to aid detection and prevention of radicalisation amongst young people and children. I am sure you will agree that the programme looks varied and stimulating, this would not have been possible without you and the many interesting and exciting research papers due to be presented over the coming days.

Finally, I would like to extend gratitude and thanks to our student volunteers, who have worked tirelessly in helping prepare for the conference. My particular thanks goes to Terry Ferrigan who has assisted me in organising the conference and who I'm sure some of you may have had communications from.

For those of you active on social media we encourage you to use the official twitter hashtag #STR2018 throughout the proceedings.

We hope you enjoy the conference!
